YORK (A. L.), S. CLEVEBAND, 7. The Highlanders made the most of their oring chances yesterday and during the stay of the renowned Vean Gregg on the redoubt accumulated enough runs to win, enough to tide them safely over a persistent oring habit developed by the Clevelands the latter part of the game. The score one time was 7 to 0 in favor of the High-

He went to second while Kinght was being relegated to the bench on an insuccessful double steal and came in when Lajote muffed Ball's throw on Sweeney. The Clevelands were docile until the fourth, and then they scored twice. Olsen came up first and walked. Jackson batted him to third base and preempted second on Daniels's throw to third. Olsen crossed the goal on Lajoie's grounder to Knight, and Knight's overthrow of first allowed Jackson to score. Ball struck out, but passes to Birmingham and Turner filled the bases. Fisher chopped in front of the plate. Sweeney jumped for the ball, nabbed it and demonstrated his alertness in making play on Lajoie, tagging the latter on the foot at the plate and orestailing a run by his nimbleness. Easterly struck out on Ford's swift spitter.

Daniels rambled around in the fourth on a pass, a steal, an out and a wild throw by Fisher. Graney and Jackson made hits in the fifth, but with two on bases and one out Lajoie couldn't connect. He field to Chase, and Ball flied to Cree. A single, a force and Fisher's push to right for three bases scored Turner in the fifth, but Fisher was incarcerated at third. The Giants faced another sample of this bitter luck that has hampered their efforts in the last two days. A sample of this is to be found in the third chapter, when with Fleicher, Meyers and Devore tugging at the cushions and eager to set sail toward the platter Doyle hit into a double play, retiring the side. Fleicher was forced at the plate on Leifield's assist and Larry died at first on Leifield's assist and Larry died at first on Gibson's return.

Both sides played a snappy fielding game, Red Murray starring in right with a couple of spectacular catches of drives that were ticketed for two bags or better. McGraw's men ran the bases as usual, but it was not to be, The enemy was there at every turn, while Leifield spiked the Giant guns at golden moments when the dumplest kind of a punk single would have meant runs, victory and a more secure hold on the cherical according to the said second rung of the ladder.

Even until the sad finish there were strong Giant hopes. But this chap Carey, who spilled the Giotham beans with the homer that sneaked over the greensward between Devore and Snodgrass, was there in the minth when Herzog's strong bid for a four bagger tanded snugly in the recruit's bare hand after a thrilling run over to Clarke's station in left. It ended the sensational fray and mande the Pirates' claim to second place absolute even though it is by a hair.

While the hard luck trailed the Giants in such efforts as these there also hovered around the sphere a large sized Jinx. Leifield, the slow ball twirler, was gall and wormwood to the Giants linguights, but the best aimed swings were

M. W. LONG BEATEN AT TENNIS

R. D. LITTLE SURPRISES THE CRACK CALIFORNIAN. .

Quick and Steady at the Net the New Yorker Wins in Straight Sets, 6-2, 6-3-Bundy, Also From Pacific Coast, Beats Slocum in State Championship Melville H. Long, the tall Californian, met defeat in two easy sets at the hands of Raymond D. Little yesterday in the fourth round of the New York State lawn tennis tournament on the turf courte of the Crescent Athletic Club at Bay Ridge. The score was 6-2, 6-3. The result was re-garded as a sensational upset. Little, the former internationalist, worked well, but he was hardly up to the task of smothering On his side of the net Little was quick.

on his side of the net Little was quick, steady and always playing for the main chance. His drives were fast as he bit the ball hard and placed deeply in Long's court. The Californian was weak on his service and seemed to lack all certainty of aim. He came up to the net frequently to block off Little's drives. He always got the ball, but with disastrous results, as he volleved it into the net or out of court. Through appeared to have deserted him.

Thomas C. Bundy, the other Californian, won his match at 7—5, 6—0, defating Henry W. Slocum, the former national champion, and coupling with Little for the lower semifinal bracket. Bundy was clever in his net play, repeatedly outplaying Slocum at close range. Maurice E. McLoughlin, the third of the trio from the Pacific coast, came through to the same round in the upper half by disposing of Arthur S. Cragin at 6-4, 6-2. Cragin was in rare form. He ed in the first set at 4-2 by his deep smashes and drives. McLoughlin fo und that he could not take any chances, and in the seventh game with Cragin serving at 40-love McLoughlin started a series of rallies that checked Cragin and heddin otscore another game in the second set and maintained a lead to the end.

checked Cragin and he did not score another game in the set. McLoughlin blocked all shots in the second set and maintained a lead to the end.

One of the aspirants for the title, Charles M. Bull, Jr., won his place in the semi-final round. At fore and back hand driving, always keeping the ball low, Bull proved a master. He was unusually steady, defeating Dr. Agustus B. Wadsworth of the West Side Club by the score, 6-3, 7-5.

The beginning of the doubles brought ontone cracking match in which Bundy and McLoughlin dwfeated the scratch pair of Wylie C. Grant and L. Millens Burt, 6-2, 7-5. Because of unfamiliarity with each other Grant and Burt often left big openings in their court. McLoughlin never allowed the opportunity to go without one of his terrific smassies. Individually Grant and Burt brought off good shots, but they failed completely on team work.

Another contest which landed the winning pair in the fourth round of the doubles was that in which William A. Campbell and Harold B. Bretz, the latter the former Yale expert, defeated Dr. P. B. Hawk of the University of Illinois and Stanley Henslow, and the standard of the doubles were worked well in their concerted attacks on the net. Brotz forced his volley shots cleanly through the opposite court at times, while Campbell was always alert for the possibilities of an opening for his deeply placed drives.

First round matches in the doubles were allowed to stand open while Thomas C. Bunday and Maurice E. McLoughlin advanced to the fourth round, as did Campbell and Bretz. One of the openings left in the first round was the contest which will bring Frederick B. Alexander and Harold H. Hackett, the national and New York State champions, against H. L. Westfall and Samuel A. Westfall. Friends of Alexander and that all the time possible was being allowed so that he might not be handicapped against such a strong pair as the Westfall brothers. This match is scheduled as the leading feature of to-morrow's card.

FOUL CLAIMED AT PARKWAY. Mixup in Race Between Baron Leland and Zaza.

After calmly pursuing the even tenor of their way through six matinee meetings the members of the New York and Parkway members of the New York and Parkway Driving clubs came near having a real fight yesterday afternoon in the last event on the programme of the Parkway track.
The plaintiff was H. W. Hanan, who drove Baron Leland, and the defendant was the popular Joseph Gibbons, who was handling the black mare Zazz.

Mr. Hanan claimed foul driving on the part of his opponent, who, he said, had cut across him in the race. Mr. Gibbons acknowledged everything but the spirit, and claimed that the interference was entirely unintentional. The members took sides, however, and refused to be pacified, and the affair is still hanging fire.
